

Assistant Teaching Professor Mechanical & Aerospace Engineering

Job Description

The Department of Mechanical and Aerospace Engineering at the Missouri University of Science and Technology (Missouri S&T) in Rolla, Missouri is seeking outstanding applicants for a non-tenure-track (NTT) teaching faculty position at the assistant/associate professor rank. NTT teaching faculty members contribute to the core activity of teaching and are fully engaged in the department's curriculum development and delivery. The successful candidate will provide high-quality teaching at the undergraduate level across a range of fundamental mechanical and aerospace engineering courses. Preference will be given to candidates with teaching strength and interest in machine design, kinematics/machine dynamics, or structures.

Requirements

Applicants must possess a Ph.D. in Mechanical or Aerospace Engineering or a closely related field. Successful prior teaching experience is an important consideration. Industrial experience is very desirable but not required. Typical workload for NTT teaching faculty is 4 (3 credit hour) courses per semester (i.e., 4-4 for the academic year). Teaching assignments and teaching loads will be adjusted for large class size, courses with multiple sections, supervisory responsibilities for courses with multiple sections, laboratory supervisory responsibilities, or professional and service activities related to the teaching assignment. It is expected that teaching assignments will be a minimum of 75% of the workload of an NTT teaching faculty position.

Application Documents

- 1) Cover letter;
- 2) Current curriculum vitae;
- 3) Teaching statement;
- 4) Complete contact information for at least four references

About Missouri S&T

Missouri S&T (formerly University of Missouri Rolla) is one of four campuses within the University of Missouri System. Founded in 1870 as one of the first technological institutions west of the Mississippi river, Missouri S&T is one of the nation's leading research universities with over 100 degree programs in 39 disciplines. Located about 85 miles west of St. Louis in the multicultural community of Rolla, Missouri S&T is an accessible, safe, and friendly campus surrounded by Ozarks' scenery. Missouri S&T offers undergraduate degrees in engineering, the sciences, liberal arts, humanities, and business, with M.S. and Ph.D. programs available in many of the science and engineering programs and master's degrees in biological sciences, psychological science, business administration, and technical communication. With nearly 7,400 students enrolled on campus and online, Missouri S&T is big enough to accommodate a diverse population, yet small enough for individuals to build highly visibility, high-impact careers.
